Q. Description of events.

Whilst travelling to the pub, Observer noticed a strange bright light. He pulled over at a nearby traffic island, mounted the kerbside with his two front wheels and continued flashing his lights. Object of "whitish" brilliance then came towards him (ie changed direction) and came to rest in front of Observer. An Orange ball of light dropped from underneath the Whitelight as though in freefall but then levelled out and moved towards observer. Observer in panic left the scene rapidly not seeing the orange ball of light again. However he did see the white ball of light ascend rapidly towards the south and disappear into a cloudbank. Whilst this event took place the observer did not hear any noise from the object remarking that the only noise he heard was from the traffic passing him.
