

I rushed up to the window and drew the curtains back and saw it all with such wonder and amazement

I have never in my life seen anything like it. There were about five red lights all zig-zagging up and down the same time as the red lights flashed at certain points of position. The speed was almost as far I could remember like the speed of lightning, then suddenly one light zoomed to the left in a long straight line.

I was so excited and over the moon